KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HERE

They Arrive in Large Numbers and Go Into Camp.

AT HEADQUARTERS

All Are Pleased With the Arrangements Made for Their Reception and Entertainment.

TOMORROW'S PROGRAM.

Calling to order of the Supreme Lodge at Builders' Exchange Hall at 10 o'clock. Parade of the Uniform Rank at 4 p. m. Complimentary excursion by the citizens' committee to Indian Head on the Samuel Reception at the Elsmere by the Pythian

Meeting of the brigade commanders at the headquarters tent of Mai. Gen. Carnahan, to complete arrangement of details for the competitive drills.

The wet squall of yesterday and the damp of last night did not do any great damage to Camp George Washington. The behavior of the camp, under adverse circumstances, surprised its friends and disappointed these persons who have made dire prophecies to the effect that even an April shower would drown the tents and make the tenters swim. Nothing of the kind happened. In the lower parts of the grounds the land became slightly boggy, and some tents, mainly unoccupied ones, went beneath the heavy fall of water, but the collapse was easily and quickly repaired. Some of the driveways which circle through the camp were made soggy, but even this was not without its advantages, because it gave the bootblacks a chance to recover some of their privilege money. It gas merciful in the clouds to dry up, but boday they are putting on a threatening oppearance, and pilgrims are going armed with umbrellas, waterproofs and gum boots. The Question of Floors.

Around the hotels among the officers of the Uniform Rank there was some disposito criticise the management of the er campment for not having had the tents floored, but this criticism was not disagreeably severe. There has been no decided kick, and the men seem to fancy it, because it has the flavor of true and tried militarism. It is camp life on a soldier principle. It is a question, if put to a vote, if the partisans of floors would win. The only men who have said anything against this very necessary economy have been officers, and they have floors to their tents. The men, the rank and file, the loyal, seasoned and toughly disciplined veterans of the lily, are taking this experience with zest and soldier spirit. Everything is working smoothly, and the air is full of music.

A Penceful Night.

The Pythian army slept last night in peace. The fatigue occasioned by the long journeys over which many of them had come was slept away, and they are abroad this morning with blooming cheeks and sparkling eyes. All this is despite a panic which Mr. George E. Emmons, secretary to the citizens' executive committee, created last night. Mr. Emmons has distinguished himself in this campaign by his intelligent arder in the cause of Washington and Pythianism, but he made the hair of the camp stand on end. It was at a late hour last night when Mr. Emmons came to the headquarters tent of Major General Carnahan. The tent was vaguely, almost vainly, lighted by the glimmer of a tallow candle. General Carnahan was in consultation with his

Mr. Emmons cast a suspicious glance at The Star man, who was only an innocent spectator, and then after a brief conference with the major general the reporter overheard him say in dulcet pianissimo accents: "General, you will need police pro-tection tonight. The lieutenant of this pre-cinct has placed the projection of the camp under a night sergeant and a day sergeant but I am afraid this will not be sufficient and you will do a wise thing to order your men to do guard duty." Then Mr. Emmons looked suspiciously at the reporter, and General Carnahan sang out to an aid-decamp: "Have the captain of each division place a guard at the entrance to each com-pany street, and see that no stranglers pass in during the night." during the night."

Policemen on Duty.

The following named special policemen have gone on duty: Day watch-C. T. Leach, W. S. Clark, James A. Morrison, William Kemp, A. L. Conway, T. F. Allman, J. C. Howard, C. L. Grant, William Zimmerman.

Night watch-Capt. Orendorf, B. King John McGee, John Graves, Louis Godfrey, T. W. Toner, Melville Reed, -Wansur, Y. I. Mitchell, George W. Thomas and - Joseph. Everything was reported as quiet last night and no trouble of any kind is being experienced today. Every fakir who does not show credentials is hauled up before the committee on camp, of which Maj. Biscoe is acting chairman today, and made to plank down the 35 required for the privilege of vending souvenirs and the like, and if the sum is not forthcoming the gentleman is refused permission to transact business in the camp.

More Light Ordered.

Mai. Biscoe called up the Electric Light Company this forengon and ordered that another are lamp be put in near the mess tents. The camp was not so brilliantly illuminated last night as it might have been, but still, with plenty of lamps and candles, it all went well.

Officer M. T. Slater of the eighth precinct is acting sergeant in charge of the squad of specials at the camp today and is making a record for efficiency in his new field. Officer Sroufe of the ninth precinct is acting sergeant in command of the night forces, and this forenoon he told the reporter that the night was spent quietly, and that the stillness of the time had been broken only by the snores of the slumbering host, the tramp of incoming legions and the boom of bands.

Pleased With the Camp.

Gen. Carnahan was abroad early this morning, and, accompanied by his staff, made a thorough inspection of the camp. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the arrangements. "Our greatest difficulty." he said, "Is that we have not room for all who desire to camp. We should have at least 200 more tents. Aside from the lack of space and tents, all the arrangements are as complete as we could wish. The sanitary arrangements are most perfect, and in spite of the heavy rain of yesterday the men passed a comfortable night. "The various brigade commanders have not yet reported to me as to the strength of "The various brigade commanders have not yet reported to me as to the strength of their several commands, so I am unable to more than roughly estimate the number of men now in camp. A rough estimate has placed the number who spent last night in camp at 2,500 men. Commands from all points have been coming in rapidly all morning, and I think we will have at least 4,000 men in camp tonight."

The first regiment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, Col. Harry Coggins in command, moved in last night, headed by the Glen Rock Brass Band. They marched as well as any con mand yet seen in camp. They were cheered and applauded as they passed the headquarters of the Massachusetts brigade, and knots of Pythian officers setts brigade, and knots of Pythian officers around Gen. Carnahan's headquarters gave forth enthusiastic plaudits. But for the fact that the regiment had information beforehand that it would be impossible for them to secure quarters in camp, they would have turned out very much stronger than they did. They moved through the menument lot with somewhat over two hundred in line, and they could very easily have turned out with four hundred.

odds within the annals of Pythianism. The knights are glad that they have come in spite of the heavy tariff.

Committeeman Georgo W. Helsley limped in camp today, from the result of an injury received last night at the Pennsylvania station. His division, Columbia, No. 3, was on escort duty, and because of the eccentric management of a baggage truck Mr. Heisley was thrown violently to the ground and sustained a severe injury to the right knee. It is probable that he is severely hurt, but, under the excitement of the time, he has braced up and is on duty.

Provost Division Experts.

Provost Division Experts. Joseph A. Reed, captain of Prevost Division, No. 1, first regiment, Missouri brigade, was in headquarters today. His division is scheduled for participation in the competitive drill, which is to begin on Wednesday at the 7th street base ball park. He will carry fifty men into the fray, and is here to win. He started out this morning with the purpose of looking over the ground and taking a survey of the field on which they will drill. He seems to consider this of very great importance.

monument lot today, and if there is any other division in camp which can beat it, that division knows how to drill. The Prevost people took first prize in the maiden drill at Kansas City two years ago, and won the first prize in the Missouri state drill last year at St. Louis. A large per-centage of the comrades in this division are members of the Missouri National Guard and have had yest vest versioned both are members of the Missouri National Guard, and have had vast experience, both in the armory and the drill field. Experience in this line counts for a great deal. Companies that do beautiful work in private or simply in the presence of friends don't do it always when they face the judges. petitive drills just as much so as in amateur theatricals.

Trouble occurred this afternoon in that part of Camp George Washington occupied by the Ohio brigade. The special officers who have been employed by the camp authorities have not, as yet, been provided with badges, and two specials went into the brigade street for the purpose of clearing it of people who had no lawful business there. The buckeyes disputed the authority of the unbadged specials, and for a little time war

They Are Plied With Questions.

The committee on information looks very sleepy today. It was on duty all night, and dealt out tons of what its name indicates it can do. Messrs. Medford, Carter, Gould, Baumann and Thompson stood their ground I'ke knights, and answered quite a number of questions. It is really surprising how much strangers do not know about the city. Gentlemen from Texas, South Dakota, Maine, and other districts not directly ad-jacent to Washington, have propounded interrogatories which a man from Anacostia could not think to ask. But everybody has received from the committee on infor-mation all the information he has

Mr. Boyd, of directory fame, has aided in Mr. Boyd, of directory fame, has aided in the efficiency of the work by contributing six copies of his valuable publication. They are besieged today with inquries as to the location of divisions, but these are questions which cannot be answered by any one. The location of brigades is known at head-quarters, and the only way to find a di-vision is to hunt up the brigade headquar-ters and there uppears the spect occupied by vision is to nunt up the brigade headquarters and there unearth the spot occupied by the division. Divisions, unless they come into camp as such, do not report to Maj. Gen. Carnahan. They report as regiments and brigades, and no list of the divisions in camp can be obtained at headquarters.

The overflow of Camp George Washington The overflow of Camp George Washington has begun with a vim. The order has gone forth from George E. Emmons that the Virginia knights shall be quartered in the Aston building, on 11th and G, and the New York lily soldiers have been assigned to the Barber & Ross building. Some commotion is being occasioned by the unsus-pected numbers in which the uniformed pected numbers in which the uniformed knights are coming in, but the committees are doing heroic work in the matter. Other are doing heroic work in the matter. Other buildings, are being cast around for by the committee in which to house the coming men. George E. Emmons, Geo. W. Heisley and other members of the citizens' committee are on the ground, and things are

Quarters Will Be Provided. General Carnahan has been assured that quarters will be provided for all the Uniform Knights of Pythias who may come, and the citizens of Washington are preparing to make good this pledge. Quarters paring to make good this pledge. Quarters in camp have been provided for ten thousand men, but it seems now that the number of knights will be swelled to thirteen thousand. The reason of this is that at the last moment some of the western roads cut rates on their own responsibility without authority, it is said, from the Trunk Line Associations, which have all along refused to encourage the encampment. The fused to encourage the encampment. The cut has come too late to make the encampment as big as it would have been had the railroads acted differently in this important matter

For a little space of time it looked very much as if somebody would get hurt. The promptitude of Sergt. Slater prevented several discolored eyes. Maj. Moore has been impressed with the need of badges for the specials who are promenading around the camp.

They Picked Out a Place.

The knights of Illinois stole a march on the camp ground committee last night, which that body of gentlemen is anxious to resent, but just the way to do is not clear The Illinois people were assigned tents on the north side of the south boulevard and the west of headquarters tent, Evidently they did not approve of the situation, and late at night, when only the stars were on guard, they pulled up stakes and planted their quarters on the south side of the boulevard, along the parking in front of the fence of the gardens of the bureau of engraving and printing. This is forbidden ground. The committee, early in the cam-paign, applied to Col. Wilson, commissioner of public buildings and grounds, for permis sion to use this territory, and it was refus-ed. It is thought by the committeemen that when Col. Wilson finds that his pet plot has been occupied by the visitors that he will raise the mightiest kind of a squall.

THE CAISSON EXPLOSION.

Return of the Ordnance Expert Who Intestigated It.

Captain Roger Birnie, the orinance expert who was sent to Fort Sheridan, near Chicago, by Gen. Flagler, chief of ordnance of the army, to investigate the recent explosion of a shrapnel shell, has returned to Washington for the purpose of making a report in regard to the cause or causes of the accident. He brought with him about a dozen fuses taken from the lot of shells which were defective, in order that they may be subjected to scientific tests. Ordnance officers are theroughly convinced that the recent explosions of caissons at Chicago were due to a defect in the equipment of the shrapnel shells. This device, faulty in construction, and therefore more dangerous to friend than to foe, is today under the ban of the army, and it has been ordered out of service. The shells are not much more valuable than scrap iron, and their retirement makes necessary the adoption of semi-other treatment of semi-other tion of some other invention of exploding projectiles. It is also probable that a new form of calsson will be adopted, the one now in use being nearly a century behind the times, and practically obsolete.

Inspecting the Great Lakes.

Professor Harrington, chief of the weather bureau, has returned to Washington from a tour of inspection of the great lakes, made for the purpose of determining their surface drift for use on the weather bureau maps. By command of Maj. Gen. Carnahan, WILL J. McKEE, Adjutant General. A NEW TARIFF TOMORROW.

The Senate Bill Will Become a Law Without Executive Signature.

The time for executive action on the tariff bill expires today, and there is no Indication that the President has changed his original purpose of allowing the bill to become a law by a constitutional limitation without his approval. The original engrossed bill, signed by Vice President Stevenson and Speaker Crisp, which has been in the possession of Secretary Carlisle since the 16th instant, was returned to the President this morning. The precious document was carried to the White House by Private Secretary Van Senden and delivered in person to the President's private secretary. It is said that the bill was not submitted to the President, as he had said that he did not care to see it again. It will, therefore, remain in Mr. Thurber's possession until tomorrow morning, when it will be transferred to the permanent custody of the Secretary of State. In making this transfer the President will officially inform the Secretary of State of the final disposition of the bill, that is, whether it became a law with or without his approval.

Settled Beyond All Doubt. It has been generally understood for the last week that the bill would certainly be placed upon the statute book unsigned by the President, and whatever doubt existed as to its becoming a law was dispelled today by the action of Secretary Carlisle in sending a telegraphic letter to all the prinsending a telegraphic letter to all the prin-cipal collectors of customs, including those at San Francisco, Chicago, New Orleans, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and New York, informing them of the decision of the department on a number of mooted ques-tions in connection with the tariff bill that have arisen since its passage Mr. Carlisle's Letter to Collectors. This letter, which covers all important questions at issue, is as follows:

THE LEAVE TO PRINT.

Only Thirty-Six Tariff Speeches Have Been Printed Under Permission.

When the House of Representatives reeded from its disagreement to the Senate amendments to the tariff bill, it granted ten days' "leave to print" to all its members-that is to say, members who had not been given time to speak during the debate were given leave to print their speeches in the Record as though they had been delivered. Only thirty-six speeches on the tariff have been printed since the permission was given. A part of this number are speeches that were, in fact, delivered on the floor, but were withheld for revision. In several cases one man has more than one speech inserted.

In the Senate, during the long considera-tion of the bill, the democrats have very generally refrained from making speeches, on account of the time it would require. Since the bill has passed a few democratic Senators sought to make speeches on the bill, but the republicans objected to their delivery, and there being no voting quorum of Senators in the city they were able to

The administration of the affairs of the office of supreme chancellor by Mr. Shaw, was recognized through the supreme jurisdiction as being unsurpassed in the history of the order. He brought to the discharge of the duties of the office a ripe business experience, which he applied to the manage ment of Pythlan affairs. As a presiding officer Mr. Shaw was recognized as having had no equal in the body, and the manner in which he wielded the gavel at the Kansas City session commanded the respect and ap-proval of all. of the duties of the office a

At the Kansas City session in 1892 Mr. At the Kansas City session in 1892 Mr. Shaw was appointed on the "constitutional commission," which was raised for the purpose of preparing an entirely new constitution for the order, together with a code of statutes, and upon the convening of the commission he was at once unanimously, elected president. His report in connection with this commission will be presented at the present session of the Supreme Lodge, and will be, no doubt, a very able document.

Gen. Carnahan Receives the News. General Carnahan this morning received a telegram announcing the death of Past Supreme Chancellor Shaw at his home in Eau Classe. Mr. Shaw had been ill for some time, having left Washington the latter part of July. He had been actively en-gaged in making arrangements here for the present encampment.

The latter part of July Mr. Shaw left Washington for his home, with intention of attending the meeting of the constitutional convention, which was held in Mila-waukee on the 1st of August. He was, however, taken so seriously if on the road as to require being carried from the train to his house on his arrival at Eau Claire. "The loss of Brother Shaw," said Gen-Carnahan, "will be keenly felt, especially, by his associates on the constitutional Carnahan, "will be keenly felt, especially by his associates on the constitutional committee, of which he was president."

Gen. Carnahan, in a few brief words, and nounced to his staff the intelligence contained in the telegram, and appointed Gen. Brand of Illirois, Col. Arthur C. Phillips of South Dak-ta and Col. Myers of Arkansas a committee to draft resolutions of respect. The death of the past supreme chancellor has cest a shadow of gloom about headquarters, Gen. Carnahan has ordered the flag lowered to half mast.

The committee appointed to draft resolutions will meet this afternoon, and the resolutions will be promulgated at 5 o'clock.

News Received in the House.

News Received in the House. Word of the death of Representative Geo. B. Shaw of Wisconsin, at his home in Eau Claire, reached the House of Represent tatives by an Associated Press bulletin shortly after the session opened. It was not unexpected, as members had known Mr. Shaw to be at the point of death for several days. He was a new member, this being his first term, but his sterling qualities had made him many friends.

Messrs. Haughen, Barwig, Cooper and Somers of the Wisconsin delegation me and prepared the following resolutions for submission to the Senate and House:

THE NEW JAPANESE MINISTER He and Hts Suite Will Arrive Here This Evening.

The State Department was today informed that Mr. Kurino, the new Japanese minister, and suite left Chicago yesterday, and will arrive in this city this evening. The object of this notification to the Secretary of State was for the purpose of insuring the new minister an audience with the President before his departure from Wash-President before his departure from Washington. This formal recognition of his diplomatic office is absolutely essential to the new minister, as, without it, he would have no official standing with this government. It is probable that he will present his credentials in due form tomorrow, or, if not then, certainly Wednesday morning before the President leaves the city. The Secretary of State will arrange all the details of the reception as soon as he can consult with the Japanese minister.
